Born on January 23rd, 1988, in Mendoza, Argentina, Valentina completed secondary school at the "Colegio Universitario Central ". Subsequently, she moved to the city of Buenos Aires where, having studied in Ariel Bufano's puppet school, she took part in the Puppeteer's Company of the "Teatro San Martin" and the "Cia. Teatro Sanitario de Operaciones".

As a result of working with different dance professors, her knowledge widened and embellished her ability to express the physical language of dance. Valentina received a qualification as a Hatha Yoga instructor and she also practices Ashtanga Yoga. Currently, she is a member of the theater company Alasur which is led by Kameron Steele and Ivana Catanese.

Traveling to Japan, she further expanded her experience studying and exercising Tadashi Susuki's Actor's Training. In Greece, she practiced Theodoros Therzopoulos's Method which enriched her horizons even more. While delving into the ancient roots of theater and assembling these contemporary methods and their philosophy, Valentina's objective is to transport her learnings, not only through the scenic works, but also to the audiovisuals, to develop her form of expressing language.

Ambitiously, she worked in different theater shows, puppet performances, she traveled as an unipersonal puppet show through Latin America, she participated in a variety of films, advertisements, web series and was the protagonist in a movie.

Valentina's closure to the mountain range of Los Andes welcomed her into the practise of mountain climbing, horse riding and running; she ascended mountains higher than 6000 meters, including the Aconcagua (6962 meters above sea level).

Valentina is a multidisciplinary artist who continues her trajectory in the constant search for questions, instead of answers.
